

TRUTH AND LIES

Author Unknown

The class divides into pairs. In each pair, one is the questioner and the other the answerer. The questioner asks questions in rapid succession. The answerer must answer the questions, alternating between true answers and lies. He must not hesitate or laugh, and he must keep strictly to the alternation. If the answerer hesitates or laughs, or if he fails to alternate between truth and lies, he is "out" and the partners reverse roles.