

BLIND LINE

ComedySportz of Chicago

- 3 players
- get audience suggestions (two per player)
 - line of dialogue from a movie
 - a cliché
 - piece of advice your mom gave you
 - song lyrics
- also get a location or situation
- Each player is given a slip of paper with dialogue suggestions from audience. The scene begins with location or situation suggestions. At random thru-out scene, players pull slips out of their pockets, read them, THEN justify the line! Start with two players with a third hanging back to enter the scene later.
- Sometimes start the scene with a line
- When paper is used, crumple it up and throw it on the floor
- Don't just talk, use some mime to establish the location or activity
- Don't rely on what's in your pocket to control the scene - ESTABLISH IT and STICK TO IT!
- Decide: "What is the focus of the scene?"
