

WHAT ARE YOU DOING?
ComedySportz of Chicago

One individual goes to the front of the room and begins an action. The next person comes forward and asks, "What are you doing?" The person must lie about what they are doing. Whatever they say they are doing, that person who asked must do what that statement suggests for an action. Another person comes forward and repeats the process, etc., until all have a chance.